Rule 4.34 Experiential Competency Training

- A. General applicants must complete 6 units of practice-based experiential competency training.

(B) Definitions

These definitions apply to the rules on experiential competency training.

(1) “Unit” is the academic credit a law school gives for course work completed under the standards established by the American Bar Association or the rules governing the accreditation or registration of law schools by the Committee.

(2) “Externship” is a placement during law school in a private, public or non-profit law office for which the applicant is awarded units.

(3) “Clerkship” is a placement in a judge’s chambers during or following law school for which an applicant may be awarded units.

(4) “Apprenticeship” is a placement after completion of the first year of law school or following law school in a private, public or non-profit law office for which an applicant may receive compensation but is not awarded academic credits.

(5) “Clinic” is a course within the law school which provides

(a) students with a substantial lawyering experience supervised by a faculty member;

(b) opportunities for student performance, faculty feedback and self-evaluation; and

(c) a classroom component.

(C) Experiential competency training must develop the concepts underlying a particular subject matter, provide opportunities for student performance in addition to traditional classroom discussion, provide for regular individualized student feedback from a faculty member, and provide opportunities for student self-evaluation. Credit toward the 6 unit requirement may be given upon successful completion of training in accordance with the guidelines approved by the Committee.

(D) The Committee publishes guidelines for the completion of training that meets the requirements of this rule.

(E) An applicant may request that the Committee determine whether the experiential competency training completed by the applicant meets the requirements of these rules and the Committee’s guidelines, if it cannot be certified by the law school the applicant attended. The request must be submitted on the required form with the required documentation and the fee set forth in the Schedule of Charges and Deadlines. A written response indicating whether or not the training is sufficient will be issued within sixty days of receipt of the request.
